

A platform for academic and scientific events

Conferences, symposia, courses and workshops — published and run in one place, in Arabic and English.

What is Events Sheets

A specialised site that gathers academic and scientific events, most of them from the Arab world, in Arabic and English. Organisers publish and run their events on it, from registration to certificates — and researchers find what concerns them in one place, instead of searching scattered institutional websites.

Running your event on your own site? Publish it here to reach researchers

You do not need to move your registration, your system or any of your procedures. A page introduces your event — its programme, committees and dates — where researchers in your field already look, on the calendar and the map, with a link to your own website. Registration and submissions stay with you, where they are.

What organisers get

- A page for every event — description, programme, committees, sessions and side exhibitions, under one shareable link.
- Online registration for attendees and presenters, with every registrant following their own status.
- Abstract and paper submission with peer review managed online, and authors notified of the decision.
- Attendance and participation certificates as PDF, in your institution's name and with its logo, each carrying a code that proves it was issued by the site.
- Session tent cards and boards ready to print, and exports of participant and session lists.
- Messages to participants from inside the platform, and automatic reminders of dates and deadlines.

What researchers get

- A calendar and a map of events, across the days of the month and the map of the world.
- Personalisation: choose your fields, and the site shows you only what concerns you.
- Open calls for papers, in one list, with their submission deadlines.
- A directory of professional certifications and the preparatory courses held for them.
- A mobile app without a store: add it to your home screen and it works like any app.

Links and contact

Everything on this page opens directly and works without signing in.

Start here

Home page	eventsheets.com/en
How the site works — a tour of its services	eventsheets.com/en/how
Running your conference here — for organisers abroad	eventsheets.com/en/run-your-conference
Illustrated guide: how to publish your event	eventsheets.com/en/guide
Pricing	eventsheets.com/en/pricing
Events calendar	eventsheets.com/en/events/calendar
Events map	eventsheets.com/en/events/map
Open calls for papers	eventsheets.com/en/events/cfp
Free tools for conference organisers	eventsheets.com/en/organiser-tools
Site statistics — open to everyone	eventsheets.com/en/statistics
This profile — its latest version	eventsheets.com/profile/en

How to publish your event — three steps

- Create an account in your own name or your institution's at eventsheets.com.
- Add the event with its details: name, dates, place and description, plus any programme, committees and sessions you like. You can run it fully on the site, or link to the site where you already manage it.
- Publish it, and it gets its own page with a link to the event's main website.

A note on language

The site's interface is fully in English. Each event appears in the language its organiser wrote it in, and every listing shows which language an event is held in — so an event held in English is easy to find among Arabic ones.

Contact

Email info@eventsheets.com